

Hello and welcome to the upper basic level short course. My name is Joe Drakos and I have been instructing course participants at the Center for about 8 years. My classes are designed to help participants develop specific skills in order to improve their overall English communication skill.

Questions at the basic level are pretty easy, however, as one progresses through their studies questions can get more and more difficult. Also, recognizing questions and responding quickly or correctly can be a stress causing challenge. In this class we will be learning about question development. We will be covering the following topics:

1. question types and phrases
2. learning how to recognize questions when they are asked in various ways
3. responses to various question types
4. using our learned skills in conversation.

By the end of the course participants will have a better command of asking questions and comprehending them.
